

SUNY DOWNSTATE HEALTH SCIENCES UNIVERSITY
POLICY AND PROCEDURE

Subject:

Policy on Compensation for Research
Foundation Postdoctoral Employees

Prepared by:

Office of the Senior Vice President for Research

Approved by:

Senior Vice President for Research

No. Page 1 of 1

Original Issue Date: 2/1/24

Supersedes:

Effective Date: 2/1/24

Issued by:

Office of the Senior Vice President for Research

---

All Downstate Health Sciences University (DHSU) Research Foundation (RF) employees with a doctoral degree (PhD, MD, or similar) must be paid at least at the current NIH NRSA postdoctoral stipend level for their experience level (See "NRSA Postdoctoral Levels" at https://www.downstate.edu/research/administration/research-hr\_benefits-payroll.html). Experience level is based on all years of experience, not just years of experience at Downstate. DHSU RF does not set a maximum allowable compensation for postdoctoral employees.

Above 7 years of experience, i.e., once a postdoctoral employee has reached the top of the NIH postdoctoral salary scale, they must, at a minimum, also receive the RF's annual recommended cost-of-living adjustment (COLA; as set by RF Board of Directors each year).

If an employee with a doctoral degree is working in a non-research role, the PI can request, in writing, a waiver to pay them at a lower rate. The Senior Vice President for Research will decide if to approve the waiver.