2018 Alumni Reunion Scientific Program

Target Audience

This program is designed for physicians of all specialties and health care professionals (both active and retired) and all medical students.

Program Description

Based upon identified patient needs as reported by alumni board members and the 2017 program evaluations, it was determined that this year's program would focus on: Child Sex Trafficking: Recognition and Care of Victims, The path from New Guinea cannibalism to mad cow disease to all neurodegenerative diseases, Cancer in Older Americans: Challenges and Opportunities, and Prep for HIV Prophylaxis.

Objectives

As a result of attending this activity, participants will be better equipped to: identify and treat victims of child sex trafficking, identify neurodegenerative diseases, treat older patients surviving cancer, and utilize Prep for HIV prophylaxis to prevent HIV from spreading.
