

Do you like to take photographs?

ANNOUNCING:

“Images of Humanism in Medicine”

a photography contest for medical students & faculty sponsored by The Arnold P. Gold Foundation

Winning entries will be those that capture, through the medium of digital still photography, the essence of compassionate healthcare. Creativity is encouraged and can be expressed by capturing mentors, colleagues, other care givers, families and patients. As humanism in medicine is an expression of the emotional – not simply the physical heart – we ask you to follow yours.

Cash prizes to be awarded: First $1000, Second $500, Third $250

ENLARGEMENTS OF THE THREE WINNING PHOTOS will be showcased at the Gold Foundation's 20th Anniversary Celebration on April 26, 2009 at Columbia University's Low Library. The winning photographs will also be reproduced, at the discretion of the Gold Foundation, in the Tribute Book created and distributed for this special occasion. Other top entries will be selected by the Gold Foundation for inclusion in the Tribute Book. Winning photographs, along with others selected by the Gold Foundation, will be posted on the Foundation's web site with appropriate credit. Photos become the property of the Arnold P. Gold Foundation and may be used at a later time for any and all Foundation purposes including, but not limited to, marketing and fundraising.

THE CONTEST IS OPEN TO current medical students and faculty at accredited schools of medicine and osteopathy.

TO ENTER THE CONTEST, and for details about the rules and requirements, please go to the Gold Foundation's web site at www.humanism-in-medicine.org and click on the homepage link for the photo contest.

ENTRY DEADLINE: January 31, 2009. There will be no exceptions.

First, Second and Third Place Winners will be notified by phone in April, 2009.

Submission(s) will be judged by a panel of professional and amateur photographers.

Good luck to you!

Click here for contest entry form, rules and requirements